Prayer for Vocations

Jesus, our Good Shepherd, bless all our parishes with numerous priests, deacons, men and women in religious life, consecrated laity and missionaries, according to the needs of the entire world, which you love and wish to save.

Assist our pastors and all who live a consecrated life. Guide the steps of those who have responded generously to your call and are preparing to receive Holy Orders or to profess vows.

Look with love on young people and call them to follow you.
Help them to understand that in you alone can they attain complete fulfillment.

To this end we call on the powerful intercession of Mary, mother and model of all vocations.
We beseech you to sustain our faith that the Father will grant what you command us to ask. Amen.

-Pope John Paul II

FOREWORD

The parish is the heart of Catholic community life today. Vocations to the priesthood and religious life will emerge from vibrant parishes only if parishioners are kept aware of vocations. Probably one of the most effective ways for parishes to foster vocations is through a parish vocation committee.

THE CHRISTIAN VOCATION

Christians receive a vocation in, and through, the sacrament of Baptism. Their first and lifelong call is to follow God in the world. In using the word "Avocation", Catholics refer not only to their baptismal calling, but also to specific states in life such as Christian marriage, priesthood, single life and religious life. The entire parish community has a responsibility to support one another in their individual vocations.

MISSION STATEMENT

A Parish Vocation Enrichment Team is dedicated to fostering and sustaining vocation consciousness among all members of the parish community by proclaiming the message of Christ. There is a particular emphasis on supporting and nurturing those who desire, seek and commit to ordained ministry and religious life. The work of the Parish Vocation Enrichment Team is to be accomplished through prayer, worship, education, service and fellowship with the entire parish community.

"I wish to draw the attention of the People of God especially to the specific role of the parishes, together with the contribution of the family, towards the promotion of vocations. The fostering of vocations cannot be considered a marginal activity, but must be incorporated fully into the life and activity of the community."

*Pope John Paul II
1986 World Day of Prayer for Vocations*

THE WORK OF PARISH VOCATION TEAMS (AREAS OF MISSION)

Jesus uses rural farming images when speaking about vocations. In looking at the Areas of Mission for promoting vocations, we use similar images. The structure, goals, objectives and activities of the Parish Vocation Enrichment Team fall into one of three general categories:

I. Prayer & Worship (Plowing)

The Lord tells us to ask for vocations (Luke 10:2). Prayer helps to make the heart of the individual open to God's calling, even for those who have not yet responded to the Lord's invitation.

- Prepares a person's heart to receive God's call.
- Opens a person's heart to respond to the call God has already given.
- Fortifies a person's heart in responding to God's call.

II. Education & Resources (Sowing)

While all vocations come from God, programs and other resources can invite and encourage individuals to be open to God's call and respond "yes" if God is calling them to a Church Vocation.

- Encourages someone to be open to a Church Vocation.
- Informs someone on what is involved in a Church Vocation.
- Invites someone to consider whether or not God is, in fact, calling him or her to a Church Vocation.

III. Service & Fellowship (Reaping)

Responding to God's call is the first of many steps towards a Church Vocation.

- Involves those thinking about a Church Vocation with the parish and others who are also in discernment.
- Sustains the person who has begun formal preparation and encourages continued growth.
- Affirms those who are seeking or are already living out a Church Vocation.

STRUCTURE AND MEMBERSHIP

The pastor, after submission of a request for participation to the parishioners (suggestion - publish the desired Amembership list" below in the parish bulletin), and consultation with the pastoral council, appoints the members for the Parish Vocation Enrichment Team based on availability of suitable parishioners to serve in this capacity. The Team shall be made up of no more than 10 members who will collaborate with and support each other and the other parish and diocesan ministries to achieve the goals and accomplish the mission of the Team.

The membership list and structure of the Team shall be as follows:

- I. Team Leader - Responsible for setting the dates of meetings and making sure that activities are planned and carried out to meet the goals and accomplish the mission of the Team.
- II. Chairpersons representing each of the different areas of mission - Responsible for planning activities or carrying out tasks in their respective areas:
 - Prayer & Worship (Plowing)
 - Education & Resources (Sowing)
 - Service & Fellowship (Reaping)
- III. Members - a cross-section of the parish which may include, but are not limited to, the following (when feasible): pastor or priest, sisters, retired religious, pastoral council representative, youth minister, Serra Club representative, Knights of Columbus representative, campus ministry representative, family members of religious, high school students/young adults, parent(s) of young children.

GOALS AND OBJECTIVES

The Parish Vocation Enrichment Team may develop short and long-term objectives related to the goals below based on the needs of the individual parish. The goals and objectives are to be evaluated annually by the Team and may be presented to the pastoral council annually for approval.

I. In the area of Prayer & Worship (Plowing), the Parish Vocation Team . . .

- fosters personal, liturgical, and family prayer for vocations in the parish.
- makes a special effort to commit individual and communal prayer time dedicated to vocations to the priesthood and religious life from their parish.
- strongly encourages and advocates Wednesdays as the Diocesan Day of Prayer for Vocations.

II. In the area of Education & Resources (Sowing), the Parish Vocation Team . . .

- engages in ongoing study and reflection on the vocation ministry of the church, especially in light of the changing nature of church ministries.
- makes available to the parish, vocation materials and information about opportunities for discernment that are offered by the diocesan Office of Vocations.
- organizes and facilitates Vocation Awareness Week and World Day of Prayer for Vocations.
- supports parish and diocesan needs for financial support of vocation awareness activities.

III. In the area of Service & Fellowship (Reaping), the Parish Vocation Team . . .

- promotes and encourages the community response to vocation activities.
- is available to young people to offer them support as they develop their spiritual life and make vocational choices.
- develops ways to reach out to teens and young adults, encouraging them to consider a Church vocation.
- maintains a special relationship with individuals who show a desire for, seek information about, and/or commit to priesthood or religious life, as a way of offering them the parish's nurturing support and recognition.
- encourages and promotes increased personal contact with priests and religious.
- supports and affirms priests, religious, and seminarians from and/or assigned to the parish.

TRAINING

Members of the Parish Vocations Enrichment Team commit to attend a one-day workshop to be held by the Diocesan Vocation Enrichment Team of the Diocese of St. Petersburg and additional training provided at the parish level as required.

FOCUS AND BOUNDARIES

The Parish Vocation Enrichment Team works within the parish policies and procedures established by the pastor and the pastoral council. They may not screen" individuals for religious vocations. Their primary purpose is to promote vocations and vocation awareness in the parish and support those in the process of discernment or formation from their parish.

If serious interest is shown by any parishioner, they should be referred to the Vocations Office of the Diocese by the Parish Vocation Enrichment Team Leader, where they can be directed in the next stage of the discernment process, be it as a diocesan priest, religious priest or brother, religious sister or lay missionary.

The focus of the Parish Vocation Enrichment Team is in promoting and encouraging women and men to discern God's call for their lives. We are not in the business of recruiting or trying to sell someone on the idea of a Church Vocation. We firmly believe that God gives a call, and we must listen and respond.

TIPS TO FORM A SUCCESSFUL PARISH VOCATION COMMITTEE

Starting Off

First, make an appointment to meet with the pastor to discuss formation of a vocations committee. It is important that in your meeting with him you come to a shared vision of the committee's role in the parish and the type of programs the committee should develop. Then compile a list of parishioners whom the two of you believe would be interested and would work well on the committee. Do not forget teachers in the parish school, the youth minister, seminarians or novices, or anyone who may have a special interest in vocations. If at all possible, the committee should be comprised of lay persons, priests, and religious. You may wish to make an announcement about the formation of a Parish Vocations Team. Then, invite these "prospects" to attend an organizational meeting. At the first meeting, set goals and a definite calendar of activities. Keep in mind that besides sponsoring activities on vocations, the committee members also should keep abreast of developments in the theology of call and vocation recruitment.

Planning and Activities

The type of activities the committee plans will depend on the number of members and the character of the parish. Set realistic long-term and short-term goals. Do not try to do everything at once. Evaluate what is being done for future use. There is a large (but by no means exhaustive) list of sample activities on pp. 4-6. Utilize the resources available through the Vocations Office and from other sources (see page 6).

SAMPLE ACTIVITIES

The activities listed here are just a starting point to help committees generate their own ideas in each of the different areas. Parish Vocation Teams are encouraged to develop their own ideas related to the needs of their parish communities.

17. Promote participation in diocesan vocation retreats held during the year.
18. Use parish activities, i.e., pancake breakfasts, to have a portable board with information about vocations in general.

TIPS ON HOW TO RUN A SUCCESSFUL MEETING

Before You Call a Meeting

It is very important to realize and remember that you are asking people to donate their time, energy and talent. The following steps will help you offer them a meeting that is fruitful, and worthy of their three-fold donation. Be very clear, when you invite them to a meeting, about the reason you are asking them to be part of the committee's work, i.e. what it is you feel they can offer to the work that the committee seeks to accomplish. Always try to find new people; instead of using the same people who are already 'stretched too thin'.

EIGHT POINTS FOR PLANNING A SUCCESSFUL MEETING

1. Goals

- Why are we meeting? State clearly the specific task(s) being addressed.
- What do we want to accomplish? Focus all work on the task at hand. "What outcomes do we want to ultimately achieve?"
- What outcomes can we expect to achieve from this meeting? Time is valuable to busy people; use it well. Strike a happy balance between "overkill" at one meeting and "dragging people out" to a second meeting because of time wasted.

2. Methods

- Open Forum. Everyone is invited to talk, offer opinions, speak of experiences etc.
- Focus Groups. Small-group brainstorming; make sure each group chooses a reporter to take notes and someone to present them to the larger group.
- Task. Get something done, whether envelopes stuffed or a decision reached.
- Timing. Set time limits and keep them...not only for beginning/ending meetings, but also for discussion of any topic. This forces people to be clear and concise in their remarks.

3. Focus Groups

- Break into small groups to address various aspects, e.g. divide topics, work, or exploration of various aspects to be considered. Assign/choose the group's topic/members.
- Assign tasks. Be clear. Lay down guidelines if necessary
- Appoint reporters. Always keep written reports, which help later when reviewing decisions, networking with other parishes, regions, or the diocesan office.
- Set time limits. Working on a task for a limited number of minutes sharpens people's thoughts, keeps them on track, and saves time overall.
- Have small groups report to the large group. Oral reports are fine, as long as written notes are supplied for the records of the meeting.

4. Logistics

- Who will be coming? Be aware of who the people are you will be working with
- What do you need? AV equipment should be ready and working (tested); paper and pencils need to be available.
- Where? State clearly where the meeting is to take place: which building entrance to be used, the room number, and so forth.
- When? Establish a reputation for beginning and ending meetings on time.
- Room arrangement. This includes doors being opened, chairs being set. Use any means you can to let members know they are important to the work, that you were expecting them, and that you have prepared for the task of the meeting.
- Hospitality. This is especially important if you are having a guest; if necessary, assign someone in advance to attend the guest, introduce him/her to membership and facility as appropriate. This is especially important for new members. Be sure the guest is introduced to the group before the meeting,
- Clean up. Establish a reputation for leaving the room at least as good as you found it.
- Follow-up. Thank and report anything the manager of the facility should be aware of.

5. Agenda

- The Plan for the Meeting. This reassures members the meeting is worth attending, is important, and allows them to focus on the topics as prioritized.
- Stick to it.
- Move through it.
- Save non-agenda items for last.
- Busy people don't like to waste time.

6. Schedule

- Date and Time. Avoid conflicts of commitment to other parish activities by checking with the parish calendar beforehand, and in order to agree on future dates at the meeting
- Be sensitive to attendee's schedule. One night out a week is all some people can manage.
- Coordinate with the people involved: members, pastor, parish secretary, guests, etc.
- Reserve the location and any equipment for a future meeting or project well in advance.

7. Notify

- Mail notices to attendees, and enclose minutes of the previous meeting.
- Telephone reminders are a good idea for the day before the meeting
- Accept good excuses and move on.

8. Reflect

- Ponder the discussion and decisions of your meeting, for future improvement.

SOME PRACTICAL SUGGESTIONS FOR CHAIRPERSONS

Organize the Meeting

- Get there early.
- Open the doors.
- Have supplies in order.
- Appoint a secretary to keep minutes.
- Have the agenda priorities and time frames clearly in your head.
- Know where the clock is (if you don't have a watch).
- Understand the difference between a "meeting" and a "workshop"; they differ in time frames, focus groups, and ways of participation, function and purpose.

Chair the Meeting

- Start on time. This shows the meeting work is important and that you respect the schedule of the attendees.
- Call people to order. Be kind, but firm. People appreciate the "good order" that results.
- Stick to the agenda. Don't allow digressions. "That's a great idea, and we'll come back to it before the end of the meeting."
- Refocus attention. Don't let several people talk at once.
- End the meeting on time, even if discussion of the last items of the agenda has to be carried over to the next meeting.
- If you need a break during a meeting, the meeting is probably too long.

Manage the Meeting

- Keep people on their toes by keeping the agenda on track.
- Stay organized. Keep your heart and soul into the task at hand, and "bring it all together".
- Keep cool.
- Have fun
- Socializing should take place after the meeting. This makes it optional, especially for people who are pressed for time.
